It came into being in 1854, founded by the British colonial power. India post provided a wide range of postal services since the first years of its existence. Nowadays the postal operator delivers mail, carries out money transfers, offers money-saving schemes, provides retail services, social payments, like pensions, allows paying bills via e-payment systems. The Indian postal network is considered to be among the widest ones. India Post cooperates with the international Speed Post that provides extra-speed delivery of documents and merchandise all over the world. The items (packages up to 35 kg of weight) shipped as part of this service are subject to customs services, but this doesn't delay them. The sendings are delivered directly to the recipient. Unlike other postal and telegraph companies. Established in 1884, it's the oldest life insurance system in the country. The Indian post also provides money transfers as part of national and international postal services. India Post partners with foreign e-commerce companies to deliver prepaid parcels and Cash On Delivery (COD) sendings. It has special logistics post centers all over the state to assist its clients in their transmission and distribution needs. If your sendings are being delivered by India Post, you may track it here PostTrack.com. Enter the tracking number of your letter or parcel in the field below and press the "Track" button. This Page is BLOCKED as it is using Iframes. Ship24 is a universal shipment tracking tool that can track India Post packages as well as over 1,200 other couriers and postal services worldwide. This means you no longer need to change where you track your parcel when the parcel changes hands during its route. Tracking an India Post parcel (or to where), Ship24 gives you all the India Post tracking location and status event updates as they happen. India Post is located in India, with offices all around the country. India is divided into 23 postal regions, in order to cover the huge amount of land India post in Hikkim, at an altitude of 14,567 ft above sea level. With India Post needing to cover such a large landmass, as well as deal with international parcel services, it processes and forwards packages from a huge number of different location on its journey, but rather the processing centre which is most convenient for the forwarding process. In light of this, senders should note that they should not expect their India Post to be processed at any particular India Post to be processing or package processing services, so senders should not expect this address to necessarily show up while tracking an India Post package. To know where your India Post parcel is instant, for free (whether it has changed hands and is being handled by another courier along its journey or not) use the Ship24 website. With just your India Post parcel all in one place, with Ship24 able to instantly find the location and status of your parcel, as near to real-time as possible. Yes. India Post delivery may either not be possible or there may be additional fees and an extended delivery timeframe for your India Post does offer international delivery services, when your parcel leaves India, handling will most likely be taken over by another country. For instance, a parcel sent with India Post and arriving in Russia, France, or the UK, handling will often be taken over by Russian Post, La Poste, or the Royal Mail respectively. This is normal practice in international shipping, with postal services used are typically trusted international partners such as a country's national postal service or a recommended, established private courier company such as DHL in Europe or UPS and FedEx in North America. However, tracking your India Post website when this occurs. To make sure you are not left having to find out who the new courier handling your parcel is and heading over to their website to reenter your tracking, go to the one-stop shop for tracking number provided when you first purchased delivery. India Post offers standard and Speed Post options for its domestic and international parcel services. When you send your parcel with India Post, the service will create a unique tracking code (typically of 10-15 characters) which you can use to track an India Post parcel. The best universal tracking capability, and a one-stop-shop for India Post tracking needs. National postal services, such as India Post, often use many couriers and logistics companies to help deliver parcels sent with them, to deliver to international destinations. The India Post tracking number is a unique code created to identify your parcel. This number is like a barcode number given to your item and handlers will scan this code to give you the latest information about a parcel's movement and status. To use this number to track your parcel, enter it onto Ship24, a website designed to scan thousands of online shops and couriers to find your unique tracking number, wherever it is in the world, and bring you the latest tracking information. For parcels sent with the Speed Post delivery option, numbers mostly start with an E. Whereas for standard delivery (that is registered) it will typically start with an R or C. You can find different examples of India Post tracking number, customers are encouraged to choose a global tracking system, if they want to have true end-to-end tracking capability at their fingertips. India Post often subcontracts or hands over parcels to other courier companies upon reaching a different country. This can make international tracking complicated (if you are not using Ship24) for the reasons below: Lack of information: When India Post has given your parcel to another handler, India Post tracking information may not be available or tracking may now have to be done through the new courier, meaning that you need to change the websites you are using and so on. Meanwhile, Ship24 tracks hundreds of different handlers at the same time, so you don't need to change websites or worry about package handovers. Limited capability: India Post does not have international package processing stations situated worldwide, you will need a tracking tool with universal capability. Ship24 offers that functionality, meaning it can track your India Post package location status effectively. Ship24 works not only for India Post package location status effectively. For universal India Post, which was previously known as The Post Department, is India's government-owned postal delivery service. The first postal service to start in the country, it was initially founded in 1788 by a member of the East India Company. While India Post still predominantly deals with package and parcel delivery, its other services include remittances (money orders), Small Savings Schemes, life insurance coverage, and providing retail services like bill collection, sale of forms, etc. India Post also distributes pension payments, handles identity card and passport applications, and has India Post ATM machines. Both the huge expanse covered by the India post and the running of the India post and the running of the India Post as a result. This has meant that India Post is hugely popular. Today India Post also often handles parcels that have been shipped from other countries and have arrived in India. In this case, many then would have to switch their tracking from the other courier, such as YunExpress or Cainiao, to India Post to continue tracking their parcel. However, the other option is to do all your parcel tracking from one place, Ship24.
